

Informal Times

Break times provided additional team working time.

Break times were good for building relationships.

Discussing additional points.

Checking the presentation schedule.

Some participants were assigned to record and report on module team work.

